Details

Bored Piling has been widely adopted in Hong Kong and Macau as a major foundation type for withstanding the loading of high-rise buildings. The speaker will share his experiences in the following areas:

- the merits and limitations of applying bored piles foundation both in Hong Kong and Macau;
- the reasons for selection of bored piles when compared with other piling systems, like socket H-piles and precast prestressed concrete piles;
- the construction sequences and typical details of bored piles; and
- the common problems and contractual matters encountered in foundation projects.

Eligible for 1.5 CPD Hours / 1.5 Divisional PQSL Hours.

Priority will be given to ICES / HKIS (QSD) members, thereafter place will be allocated on the “first come, first served” basis. For enquiries, please email to Ms. Rebecca Hung at rebecca.hung@ymail.com. The number of participants is limited to 40.
