

Navigating through the Murky Waters of Design Liability conducted by

Dennis Wong and Vivian Wong

Contents:

The recent cases provide useful guidance of the obligations and liabilities of Construction Professionals in relation to design, including the "Fit for Purpose" obligation and the duty to advise on costs between different parties. This seminar intends to shed light on the increasing importance of the Quantity Surveyor's role in design in light of the latest case law and attempts to impart practical tips that may be of use to a Quantity Surveyor when advising parties on construction costs.
